

College Controllers Game Reviews

The site will be used to give short concise reviews to help people with limited time and money buy games worth those valuable resources.

The Reviews will hold useful information that is well formatted to give clear easy to understand information about games. First would be the mechanics of the game, how they work and how well they work. Then a cosmetic look at the game, how good are the graphics, and is there a special style used. Next, a basic rating for the story and the genre or genres it falls into. Finally, a rating and some suggestions on games that are similar and are good examples of how the game plays and looks.

Audience

The audience will be people around early college age, so around the ages 18-22.

Who average around 10 – 14 hours of games a week.
